

VOCABULARY

PARTS OF THE BODY (1)

Complete the following table using the words at the bottom of the page.

List of words: ring finger (general), calf, eyebrow, temple, back, navel, throat, earlobe, instep, sole, shin, waist, thigh, armpit, wrist, jaw, cheek, nostril, ankle, chest, index finger, palm, forehead, nape, thumb, eyelid

PARTS OF THE BODY (2)

Identify the following word related to a part of the body once you've listened to the clues.

1. What a criminal does not want to leave behind.
Each person has ten, and each is different.
Wear gloves so the police won't know your identity.
2. It's usually much larger than the rest of the text.
It is written so large to catch your attention.
Scandals, sex, disasters, wars and accidents predominate this thing.
3. If yours are long, they hurt the person you scratch.
A manicurist is the specialist who trims them.
Generally speaking, men's are short and women's long.
4. The central building of an organisation is called this.
It's where important decisions are made.
It's where the president and other VIP's have their offices.

PARTS OF THE BODY (3)

Which verbs, that denote a part of the body, can replace the underlined verbs used in the following sentences.

1. I support you in what you are trying to do, and I hope that you are successful.
2. Janet does not want to accept the blame for the mistake that her manager made.
3. Can you give me the largest hammer that is in the toolbox?
4. I cannot endure the thought that Madeleine's boyfriend, whom I absolutely hate, is coming to my party.

List of verbs: to head, to stomach, to finger, to hand, to arm, to back, to shoulder, to eye

	Método Elingua Progress Class Level 16V	Versión 1.0 Página 4 de 5
---	---	---

WAYS OF SPEAKING AND SOUNDS (1)

Complete the following paragraphs, composing a sentence using a way of speaking or sound – an example has been completed for you

Ex: Your co-worker is always talking. She does not seem to have a job because she devotes all her time to talking about useless things. She comes to your office at least three times a day to tell you about whose coffee mug has never been washed, whose tie is stained, which movie actor she is in love with and where she was the previous evening. One day you turn to her and say:

Do stop chattering and leave me alone!

1. You are at the airport to meet your friend whom you have not seen for over 10 years. You were both flatmates for a year and a half, and have written constantly to each other. You can see her coming through customs, and as she crosses the restricted area, where you are not allowed to enter, you...
2. You are speaking about someone who is in the same room. You are saying bad things about this person, who you think is awful and shouldn't have been invited to the party. The friend whom you are speaking to agrees, and so you both...
3. Last night you slept horribly. You have been worried about graduating from university and having to find a job. When you woke up this morning, after sleeping for a brief two or three hours, you are in pain. You must have slept oddly, as your neck and entire back are sore. Feeling this pain...
4. Tonight will be the first time you have acted in front of an audience. You are rehearsing your lines with the other actors several minutes before the play is to begin, but you are so nervous that you...

	Método Elingua Progress Class Level 16V	Versión 1.0 Página 5 de 5
---	--	--

WAYS OF SPEAKING AND SOUNDS (2)

A)

Complete the following paragraphs, composing a sentence using a way of speaking or sound – an example has been completed for you

Ex: Your co-worker is always talking. She does not seem to have a job because she devotes all her time to talking about useless things. She comes to your office at least three times a day to tell you about whose coffee mug has never been washed, whose tie is stained, which movie actor she is in love with and where she was the previous evening. One day you turn to her and say:

Do stop chattering and leave me alone!

1. Your English teacher has handed you a list of hundreds of multiword verbs that you must memorise for the next class. You look at the list and think, ‘Is this person crazy?’ When the teacher announces that you will have to take a test on these words, you...
2. Your children are both musicians – one plays the piano and the other the violin. They play beautifully, and tonight they have given a special concert, performing together. They have just finished playing the last song and you...
3. You have been called to testify in a court case. You were a witness to an accident and must report the details. A Bible is placed before you to set your hand on and you...
4. You are in a crowded train station. You can see your uncle, whom you have not spoken to in a long time, cross the station and head towards the trains. You want to stop him, but he is too far away and the station is very noisy. You...

B)

Ways of Speaking and Sounds.

For each of the following ways of speaking or sound, give an example of when such a sound is made.

Chatter, cheer, cry, groan, mutter, scream, shout, swear and whisper.